Tribunal Orders Briefs
on Litigation Involving Constitutionality of U. S.
Program

Action Forecast

Case Specifically Concerns
Oklahoma, but May Rule
Entire Status

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The supreme court ordered oral arguments today on litigation potentially involving constitutionality of the federal government's huge flood control program.

Specifically, it called for arguments January 29 on whether Oklahoma should be permitted to institute proceedings in the high tribunal seeking to enjoin Secretary of War Woodring from proceeding with construction of the $54,000,000 Denison, Tex., dam.

Some lawyers expressed the opinion that the court might pass on the merits of the controversy in its written opinion announcing whether or not the state was entitled to file its complaint against Woodring.

This procedure has sometimes been followed by the court. There was no assurance, however, that it would be followed in this case. The court would have the opportunity to make known its views if it so desired.

Among other actions before adjourning until Tuesday January 2, the court:

Sustained a 1933 federal income tax deficiency assessed against George W. Griffiths of Chicago on the ground that he should not be exempted because of the formation of a "wholly owned corporation." The government had conceded that Griffiths formed the corporation in an effort to reduce and postpone payments of taxes for that year. Justice Frankfurter delivered the unanimous opinion.

Dismissed, "for want of substantial federal question," a government petition asking that the court set aside a decision by the Maryland Public Service Commission barring from the state roads trucks used to transport WPA workers from Baltimore to Annapolis.

Sustained, in a decision by Justice Douglas, an Arkansas unemployment compensation tax against a bath house company, which claimed that it was exempt because it operated within the Hot Springs National Park Reservation.

Although urging decision on the merits of the Oklahoma complaint, the federal government said that the supreme court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson said in a brief that Oklahoma was seeking to start the proceedings originally in the supreme court on the ground that there was a controversy between the state and a citizen of another state (Secretary Woodring of Kansas).

The accidental fact that the office of secretary of war is held by a citizen of a state other than Oklahoma, Jackson continued, "is not sufficient jurisdictional basis for maintaining the bill."

Oklahoma contended that the dam across the Red river between Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla., would flood 100,000 acres of its land and would be an unconstitutional violation of state rights.

Each dog brought $2.50.

Thomas Says Feeling Is That Air Defenses Are Insufficient

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Military recommendations of a congressional group based on a 15,000-mile tour of army posts, airplane plants and arsenals are stirring up an argument over the best methods of bolstering national defenses.

Proposals advanced by Senator Thomas (D-Okl.) as spokesman for the 16 Senators and Representatives do not jibe in many particulars with expressed ideas of the army general staff.

Among the suggestions which Thomas outlined are the following:

Expand the size of airports and training areas for troops, speed up the production of semi-automatic rifles, modernize the field artillery, and give "special and immediate attention" to defense measures against possible enemy air attack.

The group of legislators, Senator Thomas said, felt that "the defense against air attack is being neglected."

Are Not Enthusiastic

Some war department officials, however, are not enthusiastic about increasing anti-aircraft defenses before taking other measures which they considered more urgent.

The army now has in service or on order probably 400 mobile three-inch anti-aircraft guns, considerably more than there are trained troops to man them.

One military argument is that with existing odds against trans-oceanic air raids, it would be impracticable to provide in advance even a large proportion of the guns that might be needed. London alone requires 900 for protection.

To provide enough guns to defend New York and other large cities, along with the men to operate them, would require the bulk of prospective defense funds. Military men argue that the guns would be obsolete before they could be used.

Proposed Article in Ohio
Paper Never Saw Print, Is Testimony Before
House Committee

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House committee investigating the National Labor Board placed in its record today a copy of a letter in which an NLRB regional director reported that a newspaper editor "a dear friend of mine," killed a story unfavorable to the board.

Philip G. Phillips, regional director at Cincinnati, made the statement in a letter to Nathan Witt, board secretary, last January 25, in connection with a "proposed article" in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The letter said in part:

"The city editor, who is a swell guy and a dear friend of mine, killed the story."

The letter also said that Phillips believed that "the city editor and guild friends will doubtless be able to take care" of a proposed series of stories for the paper concerning a National Labor Board hearing in a case involving the American Rolling Mills Company.

The testimony about the Cincinnati Enquirer arose when Edmund M. Toland, committee counsel, asked Phillips:

"Did you at any time while you were regional director in Cincinnati suppress any story concerning the National Labor Relations Board in the Cincinnati papers?"

"Of course not," the witness replied.

Explains Custom

He explained that the circuit court of appeals customarily makes public its decisions and that in a case involving the Empire

Furniture Company, of Johnson City, Tenn., wherein the court criticized NLRB procedure, "the Cincinnati papers carried a full account of the Empire case that night and the next morning."

The decision was made known to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in a half-hour conversation with Foreign Minister Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura. He was understood to figure prominently in American-Japanese conversations aimed at settling outstanding differences.

Phillips said that later Malcolm Ross, publicity man for the board in Washington, telephoned him about a report that the board "had suppressed the Empire case."

The witness said "it developed" that "this very adverse decision" was not printed in any paper outside Cincinnati except at Johnson City, Tenn.

Toland then read the letter from Phillips to Witt and asked:

"Now do you want to change?"

Bloomington Parsonage Is Destroyed

While the Rev. and Mrs. Wilhelm K. Haysom of the Bloomington Reformed Church were visiting in Catskill on Saturday, the parsonage was destroyed by fire, which apparently originated in a defective chimney. The church may be seen at the left. The pastor and his wife returned to Bloomington, and find not only their home destroyed, but also all of their personal effects as well as the church records which were kept in the parsonage. ## Stevens Breaks Leg in Two Places

Byron V. Stevens is confined to his home, 63 West Chester street, with a broken leg suffered in a fall on Saturday afternoon while busy gathering greens to be used in decorating the Rondout Presbyterian Church for the annual Christmas exercises.

Saturday afternoon Mr. Stevens accompanied by Attorney Dorr E. Monroe, Everett V. K. Schutt and Harold Metcalf, members of the Men's Club, drove to the former Waters Woods off Highland avenue, where they had been given permission to cut greens from the trees.

While walking toward the woods Mr. Stevens suddenly stepped into a hole and fell. His companions picked him up and found that he had suffered a leg injury.

Mr. Stevens was placed on a hand sled the party had with them and taken back to the automobile, and driven to the office of Dr. Duow S. Meyers, where the injured leg was examined by the physician who ordered Stevens taken to the Kingston Hospital to have an X-ray taken.

At the hospital the X-ray disclosed that Mr. Stevens had suffered two breaks of the leg at the ankle. The leg was placed in a cast and he was removed to his home where he will remain several weeks.

Miss Miller testified she endured Wyatt's attention for three years to keep her job, then left Texas. Wyatt was sentenced to 50 years in prison.

Pollard Gets Chance, Then Does Something for Finland

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—It was the first time that Jack Pollard, native of Finland and secretary-treasurer of the Garage Washers' and Polishers' Union, Local 272, had a chance to do something for his countrymen.

He was very modest about it, almost shy—but officials of the Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., were amazed.

Pollard, born in 1885 at Helsinki, appeared at fund headquarters to ask whether he and his union could do anything.

Officials didn't know. It was 6 p.m., and the office staff had gone. There were 13,000 notices of a Wednesday mass meeting that should go out as soon as possible. Perhaps.

Pollard said he would be back. The officials thought he was gone for good.

But in a half hour he returned, leading 75 men from his union. At midnight, the notices were ready for the mails.

The next day, Pollard was back. He started pulling currency from his pockets until he had $1,000 heaped on a table.

"Give me," he said, "five boxes ($100 each) and 1,000 50-cent tickets for the meeting."

Had he really sold that many tickets? No, but he would, because that money had to be repaid.

Next day he was back again.

He had taken orders for 450 more 50-cent tickets and two more $100 boxes.

Today, he wanted licenses for 100 men to wear sandwich signs and for 300 more to distribute handbills advertising the meeting. He had printed all the bills at his own expense—and had given the fund $100 from his personal funds.

"I haven't tried to get many contributions yet," he said, almost apologetically. "I thought I'd wait until they fire the gun Wednesday night. Then, with things systematized, I'll really go to work."

Coast Guard Is Given Hard Job

Their's the Task of Keeping Europe's War Away From U. S. Shores.

WASHINGTON.—The United States coast guard is grimly tackling the biggest and most difficult job in its century and a half of existence. Its land, sea, and air forces have been expanded into a vast "neutrality patrol" designed to keep Europe's war away from America's shores.

The nation's "third fighting service" already has started taking over its part in enforcement of the proclaimed 300-mile Atlantic safety belt around the Americas.

Part of the job is to warn merchant and passenger ships of lurking raiders.

Organized in 1790 as a "baby patrol unit" of 15 small vessels to suppress piracy and collect customs revenues, the coast guard within a few weeks will be operating for 24 hours a day a fleet larger than those of many nations.

Strength Nearly Doubled.

With the addition of 4,000 men ordered by President Roosevelt, consolidation of the lighthouse service facilities and personnel of 6,000 under one command, and immediate recommissioning of 80 or more additional craft, the coastal patrol organization will be operating at a strength nearly double any it has known in peacetime.

Officials estimate 22,000 men will be engaged. The fleet of recommissioned boats will join an already expanding fleet of more than 400 craft, including 34 large cruising cutters and approximately 50 smaller cutters.

The coast guard's air force now totals 55 planes, seven of which have a 2,000-mile cruising radius, and are equipped for landing and aiding distressed persons far at sea. An unrevealed number of planes is to be added.

Auxiliary shore facilities are to be enlarged. Radio and telephone communication facilities are already in process of expansion.

The surface fleet has been allotted specific zones in the hundreds of thousands of square miles to be patrolled from Canada to the Canal Zone. Ranging even farther at sea will be a new armada of recommissioned World war destroyers.

New York Waters Vital.

Most vital of the districts under coast guard surveillance is an area of 30,000 square miles around the harbor of the city of New York, into which run the world's greatest seaways.

Responsible for supervision of this giant task is Capt. R. W. Dempwolf, head of the New York division. Over Captain Dempwolf, and head of the entire organization is the coast guard's commandant, Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche.

General operations of the navy's patrol fleet, expected to number more than 180, will be directed by Rear Admiral Hayne Ellis, commander of the Atlantic squadron, aided by Commander James L. Holloway Jr., his chief of staff. In some areas, it will include coast guard units.

Under certain circumstances, as suggested by President Roosevelt, the extraordinary policing surveillance may be extended as far as 1,000 miles to sea, along the more heavily traveled routes used by liners where submarine activities are most feared.

On the ground that they are "discriminatory in principle and burdensome in fact," the American Automobile Association has submitted a statement to the U. S. Treasury urging the repeal of all federal automotive excise taxes. In 1938 these taxes cost motor vehicle owners $285,213,125.

Five Youths Die in Fire

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 18 (AP)—Five youths were burned to death when fire early today swept a reconditioned barn used as a dormitory at the Georgia State School for Feeble Minded Children near Gracewood, a few miles from Augusta. Dr. E. H. Schwall, superintendent, said the dead were: Floyd Little, 15; Hoyt Cook, 15; William Koomans, 22; Curtis Sergeant, 17; and Curwood Creech, age unknown. Injured critically were Nathaniel Peters and William McMichael. Four bodies were recovered. Dr. Schwall said the fire started in a linen room on the first floor, also used as the laundry. There were 24 boys in the dormitory. Several escaped by sliding down outside piping. Others jumped to safety. The flames were discovered about 1:30 a. m.

Boys Are Arrested

Following a complaint received by the police department Sunday afternoon that two boys were discharging .22 caliber rifles along the railroad tracks in the rear of the city incinerator on Wilbur avenue, the police arrested Robert Van Buren, 17, of 15 Prospect street, and Fred Cadden, 16, of 6 Park avenue, on charges of disorderly conduct. This morning Judge Raymond Mino in police court suspended imposition of sentence on the boys, but warned them it was against the law to discharge firearms within the city limits.

INTERSTATE TAXES

Interstate commerce is certainly in a mess when eggs from across a state line can be barred in various states by being arbitrarily designated as "not fresh."

When goods can't be hauled through a neighboring state to another state in a truck without buying a license in the intervening state:

When states can impose special taxes on drinks, cigars and cigarettes shipped from other states;

When reciprocal highway privileges are refused on commercial vehicles from adjoining states.

And so on and on, in a mischievous and annoying competition for obstruction of mutual trade, which makes it cost $400 to drive a "foreign" truck from another state through Alabama, or $300 in Georgia, or $125 in Maine.

It is doubtful whether states really make money by imposing such penalties, because they tend to check interstate trade and thus keep down commercial volume and profit. It is also likely that such restrictions are unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce.

USEFUL SNAKES

Snakes, probably the creatures most feared by man, are nevertheless useful to him and, if a recent announcement is correct may become great benefactors. Dr. William T.
Black of Memphis told a gathering of the Southern Medical Association that poison from the cobra was a good non-habit forming substitute for narcotics in relief of pain.

The venom does not act so swiftly as the opiates, but its effect lasts longer and the size of the dose may be reduced after the pain is once allayed. Dr. Black has used cobra venom with success in a number of cases and is convinced that its wider use will mean a great reduction in the number of drug addicts.

Some snake meat is already considered a tasty delicacy. Snake skins are used in making shoes, handbags, belts and other accessories.
Now the poison itself is being turned to the easing of physical pain. Perhaps we ought to get over our terror and indiscriminate hatred of all snakes.

LOAFERS OR MEDDLERS?

Dr. Lin Yutang, a smiling Chinese author and lecturer, is in this country preaching the gospel of loafing. A sort of exchange missionary you might call him.

"Our nation (the Chinese) is a loafer nation," he says frankly. There are also go-getter nations, meddling nations, such as Japan, Russia and Germany. They are all efficiency and stupidity, and as a result are turning the world into chaos.

"The carefree individual is the highest type of human being. One who worries thinks himself too important. A person should start with the idea of not expecting too much from life, and then he will appreciate what he gets.

"This philosophy eliminates the non-essentials, the hustle and bustle, keeps down the blood pressure and is an antidote against a world of stupid, mad, obscene struggle for success."

Such an attitude goes straight against our ingrained American principles. Yet Dr. Lin might be at least half right. Certainly our worry and strain and fear don't get us anything.

INTELLIGENT CROSS-SECTION

A professional opinion-sampler may learn more than the popular ideas he seeks. One such, ringing doorbells in an industrial city to get voters' attitude toward various local and national issues, found himself being educated in fundamental democracy.

In the first place, he discovered in his city people representing every European nationality, with a scattering of Asiatic and African groups, yet Americans all. In the second place, he found that intelligence and thoughtfulness knew no racial, class or occupational lines.

"Anyone who has ever harbored the thought that sound, logical thinking on public questions is the prerogative of a single class or group," he reports, "should meet the electorate; they will demonstrate his error. Whatever group one interviews—rich, poor, white, colored, Yankee or immigrant—a goodly number of straight-thinking citizens will appear. In some cases their speech may lack elegance, but their brains are operating at maximum efficiency."

EXTRACT OF OVARY BRINGS RELIEF

In cases of severe bleeding at the monthly periods as women approach the menopause (change of life) it is often necessary to use radium treatments. These treatments bring about the menopause because they stop or slow up the activity of the ovaries. This is called bringing about an "artificial" menopause. This radium treatment has saved the lives of many women where cancer was the cause of the severe bleeding.

As in cases of the "natural" menopause, there are hot flushes also in these cases of artificial menopause brought on by the radium. These flushes shock the system and are a source of great embarrassment. It is therefore gratifying to know that women are now able to obtain great relief from these flushes by using various preparations of extract of ovary gland.

Dr. B. C. Murless, in The Lancet, London, reports his use of estrogen (ovary extract) in the treatment of fifty-one women suffering with hot flushes due to the menopause brought on by radium. In most cases treatment began between the eighth and twelfth weeks after the menopause had been brought on. In order to see if the estrogen really helped these women, one of every five women treated was given dummy tablets of lactose in packaging exactly like the one containing estrogen. Although some of these taking the dummy tablets said that their flushes did not last as long and were not as severe, there was no reduction in the number of flushes that occurred.

What about those that got the treatment by estrogen? A complete cure was experienced by 11 patients, the average period of treatment being four weeks; but these were mostly patients with a small number of flushes daily before treatment started.

In only five instances did treatment fail to reduce the number of flushes and in four of these the flushes were not so severe. Further, the results obtained were permanent.

The lesson here is that no longer need it be "natural" for women to undergo the number and severity of hot flushes of former years. This treatment may not bring about a cure except in mild cases but it does bring relief to the great majority of women whether the menopause is natural or artificial (brought on by radium.)

Social Security

Editor's Note: Every worker who has a Social Security account can now learn about the recent Congressional changes in the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance provisions of the Social Security Act as they apply to him or her. For the benefit of readers of The Kingston Daily Freeman, the Social Security Bureau, 100 Franklin Street, has prepared a series of brief articles, each explaining one point of the new provisions.

The amended old-age and survivors insurance program provides benefits for the individual wage earner and extends protection to his family. Under this program, the wife of a retired worker is entitled to a supplementary benefit when she reaches age 65. The payment to her will equal one-half of her husband's basic monthly benefit. A dependent child under 16 (or under 18 if attending school) is also entitled to a separate benefit equal to one-half of the father's annuity. A table which shows examples of monthly benefits after 3 years in covered employment for the retired wage earner and his dependents follows:

Average monthly wage of wage earner's wife and dependents

$ 50 $ 20.50 $ 10.30
100 25.75 12.87
150 30.95 15.45
200 36.05 18.02
250 41.20 20.60

The new program also provides benefits for the widow and orphans of an insured wage earner. In case he leaves no such heirs, his dependent parents over 65 may receive monthly benefits. A widow over age 65 is entitled to a benefit equal to three-fourths of her husband's basic monthly benefit. A widow below the age of 65 who has in her care dependent children receives a similar benefit. In addition, a dependent child under 16 (or 18 if attending school) receives a benefit equal to one-half of the father's basic monthly benefit. The table below shows examples of monthly benefits for survivors:

Average monthly wage of widow's dependents

$ 50 $ 15.45 $ 25.75 $ 30.05
100 19.31 32.18 45.05
150 23.17 38.62 54.07
200 27.04 45.06 63.08

Smith's Testimony Before House Committee Might Result in Request He Be Removed From N. L. R. B.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 18 — When Congress reconvenes, members of Congress unquestionably will ask President Roosevelt to remove Edwin S. Smith as a member of the National Labor Relations Board upon the basis of his own testimony before the Smith committee of the House of Representatives last week.

Mr. Smith appears, according to the record, to have written a letter to Louis Kirstein, vice-president of Filene's department store in Boston, which is being construed by most of the members of the House committee as having been a direct invitation to Mr. Kirstein to participate in a boycott of a hosiery company then engaged in a dispute with a minority of its employees.

The letter in question said in part:

"I do not know whether you will care to make any approaches on this matter to the Berkshire management nor do I know what volume of business Filene's does with Berkshire. I do most certainly feel that any stand which you might adopt would be listened to with greatest respect by the Berkshire Company. I am enclosing a letter from John Edelman, research director of the Hosiery Workers' Federation, which gives some interesting facts regarding this company."

The material enclosed related to a boycott. Mr. Smith insisted on the stand that his sole purpose was to get Mr. Kirstein to mediate, but he admitted that he did not approach the Berkshire Company at any time about getting the dispute settled by mediation.

The record shows that Mr. Smith followed up his correspondence with Mr. Kirstein by keeping him informed of what the union was doing and reported by letter to him on a conversation he had with the head of the Hosiery Workers' union, who said that "they had been meeting with some success in the way of pressure by customers of the Berkshire Company, and then reported to the board as follows:

"They (the union officials) stated that, while some of the officials of the union thought facts might warrant intervention by the board, it was the opinion of President Rieve of the Hosiery Workers' Union and of themselves that there was no unfair labor practice involved upon which they could base a charge of violation of the National Labor Relations Act, nor did they feel it wise to press a charge to meet the purposes of collective bargaining since the company had undoubtedly raised the point that they did not represent a majority of the workers and this was true."

In other words, though the company was obeying the law and the union admittedly did not have a majority, the board members and staffs were consulting and conferring with the minority or their representatives and looking for opportunities to trump up a charge under the law so as to get a majority in the Berkshire plant.

Accusations of this sort have been freely made by employers against the board and its staff in the last three years, but the board members and the administration have denied this sort of abuse of the law and of the board's powers. On the basis of the record of misfeasance, congressmen in January will ask President Roosevelt to end the scandal by removing all personnel who have abused the trust of impartiality imposed upon them both by the spirit and the letter of the National Labor Relations Act.

"In my opinion, forward-looking

MAYOR OF ELLENVILLE RIDES TO WORK ON BIKE - HE'S 71

Ellenville, Dec. 18—Mayor Benjamin C. Sparks rides to work on a bicycle every day and waves to almost everyone he passes on the way.

"No use getting any high-falutin' ideas, just because a man is mayor," smiles the 71-year-old village head. "I've been riding a bike for years and it keeps me fit as a fiddle."

Mayor Sparks, who lives in a modest white house at 11 Yankee place and works at the Ulster Knife Factory, presides over the meeting of the village board the first Monday of each month.

Fine Place to Live

"Ellenville is a fine place to live," he boasts, "and is in a setting of natural beauty that draws nearly 6,000 summer residents into or near the village each year. The permanent population is about 3,200 and is growing each day with new men coming to work on the New York city water supply project."

John in Wawarsing June 11, 1888, the son of John C. and Mary Schoonmaker Sparks, his father ran a hotel in that hamlet. He married Miss Anna Palmer of Wawarsing December 21, 1894, and since has lived in Ellenville.

Mayor and Mrs. Sparks have one son, Harold J. Sparks, who is chief clerk at the postoffice.

Likes Plenty of Work

A man of medium build, Mayor Sparks likes plenty of hard work and says:

"There are only two things I like better than my work—hunting and fishing."

Each fall he hunts deer and squirrel in the neighboring Catskills and in the summer fishes for pickerel, bass and bullheads at Ulster Lake, a few miles northwest of Ellenville.

On Sunday afternoon, he discards the bicycle for his modern sedan to enjoy a pleasant drive through mountain roads with Mrs. Sparks.

Of Dutch, English and Irish extraction, he enjoys reading newspaper accounts of the current European jumble and seems to have a keen sense of analysis.

Fundamentally Admirable
Germans are fundamentally straight forward and admirable, he says, "and they don't want that war any more than you or I. It's a darn shame Germany is ruled by an underhanded clique."

He believes, however, that Russia is the biggest threat to democracy and says Stalin is "a lot smarter" than Hitler.

In discussing village affairs, Sparks says Ellenville probably will be free of bonded debt by June 1940. Other board members associated with the mayor are: Trustees Floyd Howe, Oliver Brough, Louis Zipperman, George Rippert and Miss Alice Moffit, clerk.

Mayor Sparks is a Mason and belongs to the Red Men and American Mechanics. He is an honorary member of the Pioneer Fire Company. Active in the Dutch Reformed Church for years, he is now an elder and treasurer of the Ellenville congregation.

Phil Brubaker, a San Francisco heavyweight boxer known as the "fighting parson," has given up both the ring and the pulpit. He's an automobile salesman now.

Where They Came From Christmas Wreaths

HOLLY and other evergreens in the house at Christmas are carry-over from the early Twenties, custom of bringing the interior of dwellings with evergreens as refuge for the winter weather. The tree was regarded highly as a good luck symbol. Later holly was associated with the evergreens with the idea that all growing plants blossomed and bore fruit the night of the Nativity. Holly came to symbolize the crown of thorns worn by Christ. The Puritans tabooed holly and mistletoe as pagan decorations.

Day Nursery Has Tea And Etching Exhibit

The Kingston Day Nursery tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, 12 West Chestnut street, was held Saturday afternoon. A large group of charter members of the Day Nursery Association were present to enjoy the exhibition of etchings in the collection of Harry Pearson of High Falls.

The prints entirely covered the walls of the recreation room. The mother and child etchings by Harry received the most favorable comment. Edward Blampied's works were the most numerous and covered the widest variety of subjects from serious to humorous. Tunstall prints also were shown specializing in farm scenes and animals with exquisite detail.

Mrs. Harry Pearson showed her miniatures, most of which were painted in France and Holland 20 years ago. A group of Dutch characters made the greatest impression. The Brittany peasants and landscapes were charming and dainty. One of the most attractive has been exhibited at the Royal Academy in London, England. A baby painted for a locket was the center of the display.

One of the guests remarked, "This is just like visiting the Louvre" and so much art for one afternoon made all present forget the rush of the work-a-day world.

Brest-Litovsk Treaty

The Treaty of Brest-Litovsk was the peace treaty signed by the central powers and Russia, March 3, 1918, and ratified by the All-Russian Council of Soviets March 14. After the fall of the Kerensky government, Lenin and Trotsky proposed an armistice to the central powers, and Germany offered to receive delegates at Brest-Litovsk. After somewhat dramatic negotiations, Russia agreed to evacuate the Balkan provinces, Finland and the Ukraine and to cede Ardahan, Kars and Batum to Turkey, in addition to giving further advantages to the central powers. The treaty was never recognized by the allied powers and was annulled by the armistice of November 11, 1918.

Christmas Pageant to Be Repeated

Freeman Photo
The Christmas pageant which was presented at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, Sunday evening, attracted an audience of nearly 1,100. The crowds necessitated two presentations. The pageant was written by Frederick Wilmot and was entitled "The Adoration." It was under the direction of the Rev. Russell Gaenzle. The above scene is the final tableau which marks the close of the pageant. The group in the right forefront of the picture consists of Robert Messinger, William Crothkopp and Lewis Roosa as kings; Ronald Lord, Charles Walsack and Donald Snyder as kings' attendants; Faith McCullen, Miriam Hotaling and Hilda Rice as angels. In the left forefront are Harry Rowland, Warren Dunham and Paul Mohr as shepherds; Florence Rice, Audrey Koch and Gloria McLean as angels. Inside the grotto are Caroline Port, as Mary; Walter Snyder, as Joseph; Shirley Dunham and Dorothy Schick, as angels. The group of angels in the heavens consists of Edith Rowland, Marjorie Emrick, Joyce Kirchner in the first row; Gloria Stork, Gloria Schantz, Roselle Mosher, Shirley Hotaling in the second row; Margaret Sleigh, Marion Dunham, Louise Lopez, Adele Schwartz and Carolyn Hummel in the last row. By request this pageant will be repeated Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

34 Anglo Planes Downed in Fight

ian tank corps which recently attacked Salmiari, on the Norwegian border in the Petsamo region, northernmost Finland, had used a Norwegian road. Norwegian authorities, however, said they had not been informed of such a violation.

Weather Spares Finns
Moscow, Dec. 18 (AP)—Inclement weather is sparing Finland attack by vast numbers of Soviet Russian planes, but land forces have driven more than 80 miles within central Finland, according to today's communiqué.

The weather and the low visibility of the Arctic twilight, Russians reported, are grounding airmen on nearly all of the front.

Meanwhile, the government newspaper Izvestia declared that expulsion of the U.S.S.R. from the League of Nations had given her a "free hand," and the communist party organ, Pravda, accused the United States of influencing Latin American states to support the custer last Thursday.

The party newspaper said the league assembly sessions were held "behind closed doors, but in the presence of an American observer," Mr. Edgar, in the role of school supervisor. He was silent, but watched carefully over the behavior of Latin American diplomats.

"They conducted themselves according to the plan." The representative of the single American state which is carrying on a policy independent of the United States—Mexico—objected against the expulsion.

(Mexico voted in the League assembly to condemn Russia as an aggressor, but at first was reported to have abstained. United States Vice Consul Donald B. Edgar attended the assembly session as an observer.)

Izvestia said the expulsion was all the more valuable because it placed responsibility "full with the League itself" on the Anglo-French ring leaders," adding.

It is not the Soviet Union which will lose because of the Geneva decision. This decision relieves the U.S.S.R. from moral responsibility for "activities" of the Geneva institution and at the same time releases the Soviet Union from obligations ensuing from the covenant of the league of nations.

Moscow observers found it increasingly apparent the Red army would be unable to deliver the final stroke in Finland as a "birthday present" Thursday for Joseph Stalin. He will be 60 years old, and that "present" was reported to have been one of Russia's original aims.

The press, limited in its publication of war news, called for a patriotic observance of the anniversary. Local elections will follow next Sunday.

Six Persons Hurt In Area Crashes

The accident happened about 7:30 Sunday night as the Buick car was being driven south on 9-W and the Chevrolet was coming out of Western avenue, Marlborough, the cars meeting at the intersection.

Schoonover suffered a bruised knee-cap. Riding in the same car were Mrs. Schoonover, unhurt; Helen Roguski, bruised toes on her right foot; Ida Goodrich, bruised left knee; Harold Odell, unhurt. The three last named are from Salisbury Mills. Miss Jane Flannery of Marlborough, riding in the Seaman car, received lacerations of the left hand and bruised left knee. The front ends of both cars were badly damaged.

Accident This Morning

A third accident about 6 o'clock this morning, reported by Sergeant Hulse, occurred about four miles south of Highland on 9-W when a Mack tractor and trailer swerved from the road and turned over on the embankment, badly damaged. The truck belongs to Marcel's Motor Express, Burlington, Vt., and was being operated by Daniel E. Brown of Middlebury, Vt. Brown told Sergeant Hulse that something went wrong with the front end of the truck, causing it to swerve. Brown was unjurned.

A party of four returning to their homes in Massachusetts following a visit to Philadelphia suffered injuries when the car in which they were riding skidded on the slippery pavement at the intersection of Main and Market streets, Ellenville, about 9:15 Sunday morning and crashed into a tree, being badly damaged.

Mrs. William Haney, 26, driver of the car, suffered from a fractured pelvis and Leonore Hall of Sherburne Falls, Mass., had a fractured left rib. Two others in the car suffered from shock. The injured people were treated by Dr. Anthony Ruggiero, whose office is nearby, and later were taken by private car to their home in Massachusetts. Officer Elbert Westbrook investigated the accident.

On the average, out of every 100 cans of milk produced on New York state dairy farms, farmers themselves use about 12 cans.

Alms Were Serious

But his aims, for all whimsy and self-kidding, were deadly serious. In the first years of the depression he ran a "give a job till June" campaign and found jobs for 1,500 persons. In 1931 he produced a cooperative review, "Shoot the Works," to help unemployed actors. He was master of ceremonies. Once when a reporter went to interview him during the show's run Brown pressed the man into service as a tap dancer.

In the years since 1933 when he helped organize the Newspaper Guild he had joined the picket lines in a score or more of cities.

Mayor LaGuardia, informed of his death, said: "I have lost a close personal friend. He was a clear thinker and a courageous writer, a rare combination in these days."

Governor Herbert H. Lehman said: "His death is a great loss, not only to journalism, but to the public as a whole."

On the average, out of every 100 cans of milk produced on New York state dairy farms, farmers themselves use about 12 cans.

Anglo Bid for War Loan Rejected, Is Washington Report

opinions of a half dozen lawyers that it legally could be made.

The British wanted to know about government loans because the Johnson act forbids private American bankers lending to World War debt defaulters. As security for a loan of possibly $1,000,000,000, the British proposed their holdings of American stocks and bonds.

Since the war actually has occurred, the British have begun selling their American securities in small but steady amounts. Rumors have been heard of a plan to sell the nearly $1,000,000,000 of British-owned securities to a Canadian corporation, but these have not been confirmed.

One of the plans for guarding American markets in case of war made at that time and carried out this fall came from Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Eccles and George L. Harrison, president of the New York Federal Reserve Board, won secret authority in April to buy $500,000,000 worth of government bonds if war torpedoed the government bond market. The purpose was to prevent a rapid price change.

In the first two months of war, Eccles' group purchased, for the 12 Federal Reserve Banks, $405,000,000 of treasury bonds and $32,000,000 of treasury notes.

Retail sales of gasoline in Canada during the first eight months of 1939 totalled 508,240,000 gallons compared with 487,780,000 gallons in the corresponding period of 1938.

Sperando Hits 744, but Pabst Lose to the Barn Bowlers by 33

Kingston Keglers Score Upset Here Saturday Night

Crowded Gallery at Recs Sees The Barn Win—Visitors Capture Doubles Match

One of the greatest bowling exhibitions ever put on here in competition was that of Tony Sperando of the Pabst Blue Ribbons, Saturday night, before a crowded gallery at Recreation alleys.

Sperando spilled the pins for a 744 series, a new record at the Recs, for the five-man event, which the famous Pabsts lost to The Barn, despite his good bowling by 33 pins.

The Long Island ace came through with a brilliant 245 average, the team competition, hitting a 265 in the third game. Team up with Fred Voelpel in the doubles, which the Pabsts won, he rolled a 268 game.

In the team match, The Barn Keglers rolled a string of 1031, 1006 and 945 for a 2992 total against the Blue Ribbons. The visiting club hit the maples for 963, 1022 and 974.

Bill Fitzpatrick's rollers opened with a 1031 and hit 1006 in the second game to establish an early advantage over the Pabsts who came to Kingston through the courtesy of Albert C. Lattin, past president of the American Bowling Congress.

Prior to the games, he spoke. So did Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Bowling Association, and William C. Landgraf, president of the United States Bowling Clubs of New York.

In the doubles, Voelpel and Sperando of the Pabsts defeated Johnny Ferraro and Charles Tiano of The Barn. Tiano featured in the five-man victory for The Barn with a 670 series and high single of 239.

After the games, Bill Fitzpatrick was host to the two teams at The Barn.

The Miami Open On Biggest Flop

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Sam Sneed, who said he still didn't feel "in the pink," headed back home today for a physical overhauling after limping four times around the course in 271 strokes, just nine under par, to win $2,500 top prize in the Miami open, the year's final golf tournament.

Two strokes off the pace going into the final round, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro hit his stride yesterday and tied the course record with a six below par 64 and breezed home two shots in front of Harold (Hug) McSpaden, the Winchester rifle from Boston. "I'm still not feeling exactly up to snuff," grinned Sneed, who had been out of tournament competition for more than a month.

Several months ago Sneed suffered a pain in his back. After an examination three teeth were extracted and he felt better. He said that he might have another tooth or two out.

"I hope to be in better form when I get back into competition," he said.

Sneed's burst of sub par golf, his second in two years (he won the Miami open in 1937 with a record 267) came when most of the early leaders were folding up.

McSpaden rallied heroically with a four under par 31 on the final 9 holes for his 67 and 72 hole 273, but the recovery came too late.

Northwestern's well-publicized Bill De Corvo and company were haled as a sure-fire hit in Big Ten circles, with championship possibilities. Yet, the Wildcats turned out to be wild only at the dinner table, won only three of eight games and were blanked in four.

Third on the list of disappointments came the Cincinnati Reds and their sorry world series showing.

Sam Sneed's collapse in the national open and the record of the highly-touted New York football team in winning only one of 11 games and losing to such a grueling little fellow as Sam Houston were voted a fourth-place tie at 18 points. This was just a half point higher than the New York baseball Nelson.

McSpaden earned $1,250, Williamson $1,000, Hogan $750 and Nelson $600.

Ed. Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., Gene Kunes of Philadelphia, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., tied for sixth place at 27, each collecting $400.

Nelson picked up enough points to beat out Henry Picard, the P. G. A. king, for the Harry Wardon trophy emblematic of the year's professional supremacy. Nelson finished with 473 points to Picard's 461. Sneed wound up third with 345.

Although Picard won only $100 in the final tournament, a 282 score for a 14th place tie, he still finished as the year's top purse winner with $10,303. Sneed moved up to second with $9,712 and Ralph Guldahl, whose 281 earned him $100, was third at $9,447. Nelson was fourth with $8,444.

The Miami Open On Biggest Flop

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—The most resounding "flop" in 1939 sports, the country's sports editors decided today, was a toss-up between the collapse of Johnny Vander Meer's double-no hit pitching arm and the gridiron woes of the Northwestern's Wildcats.

Voting in the Associated Press' ninth annual poll on the year's biggest disappointment, the experts came up with a point tie in trying to discover which took the biggest nose dive. Vander Meer was voted the No. 1 upset on 11 of the 74 ballots and Northwestern drew the top spot on nine, but on a point basis—three for a first place selection, two for second and one for third—there were deadlocked at 37 points.

Vander Meer, after shattering all pitching records in 1938 with two straight no-run performances as a rookie with the Cincinnati Reds and winding up with 15 freshman victories, ran into a combination of the sophomore jinx and an assortment of ailments this year. He finished the season with only five victories and nine setbacks and tossed only eight complete games.

Northwestern's well-publicized Bill De Corvo and company were haled as a sure-fire hit in Big Ten circles, with championship possibilities. Yet, the Wildcats turned out to be wild only at the dinner table, won only three of eight games and were blanked in four.

MRS. TILLIE IRELAND

Philadelphia, Dec. 18 (AP)—A number "1750," until they located newspaper puzzle contest returned a murder charge instead of a prize award today for a 35-year-old mother who, Detective CaptainJames Ryan said, confessed suffocating her 20-month-old son, swelling
